Padded cotton foot for luxurious feel

3mm Silicon pad above Metatarsal region providing 40 Newtons of impact resistance

Flat toe seam

MetaSox silicon enhanced Teamwear Socks:

- provide protection from metatarsal injury and padding for ball control
- are designed to work in synergy with today's thin, light cleats
- can be worn beneath a standard sport sock

Protection - The winged shape covers the full Metatarsal region at only 3mm deep. The MetaSox silicon panel can withstand 40 Newtons of force.

Power - The MetaSox impact pad provides an extended contact period with the ball, passing on additional power to the wearer.

Precision - Engineered to extend the sweet spot, like a driver in golf, the MetaSox impact pad allows for a more accurate pass with less reaction from impact when striking the ball off-center.

THE SCIENCE OF PROTECTION

MetaSox were developed when the UK based company founders used their combined engineering and sports science backgrounds to develop a product which could work in synergy with athletic shoes to provide players with enhanced qualities such as support, protection from injury, additional power and confidence. Now used and supported by professional athletes who have helped to develop MetaSox, they are happy to be able to offer this must-have sports accessory to all.

As part of Metasox pre-production R&D the pad technology has been significantly tested by a specialist rubber and plastic testing company. The tests showed the pad could withstand 40 Newton's of impact resistance before any visual defect occurred. Metasox provides protection in-line with an average shinpad composition with additional flexibility. Further testing in 2011 at Loughborough University (leading Sports College in the UK) showed the socks provide additional power during testing.

Silicon enhanced performance sports socks

Today's athletes are stronger and faster than ever. As a result, the forces involved in contact sports have never been so large. Combine this with the modern day athletic footwear that offers minimal protection to the foot and it is easy to see why serious impact injuries are becoming more common. The most prominent of these is the highly publicised metatarsal injury.

Metasox are designed to work in synergy with the modern day soccer shoe providing the player with:

protection

MetaSox are designed in a winged shape to cover the full Metatarsal region from 1st to 5th, and at only 3mm deep the MetaSox 3mm silicon panel can withstand 40 Newtons of force.

power

Formed from a specially engineered, flexible and elasticated silicon compound, the MetaSox impact pad provides an extended contact period with the ball, passing on additional power to the wearer.

precision

The MetaSox impact pad is engineered to extend the sweet spot, like a driver in golf, allowing for a more accurate pass with less reaction from impact when striking the ball off-centre

comfort

MetaSox performance socks all feature a padded comfort foot for a luxurious feel, and a flat toe seam for added comfort. The Sport socks feature a ribbed leg for maximum support. MetaSox are machine washable.
